Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

We think there are signs showing upon our historical horizon that point definitely to the next great slogan that will mark our evolution as a nation. The slogan will be: "A Fair Deal." We have had the New Deal which has accomplished much in the way of social legislation, but the nation still does not enjoy the full measure of justice that all free men instinctively seek. The institutions set up have worked so badly that the nation's effort to provide defense in this critical time is thwarted in part.

Whether this "fair deal" comes through a greater participation by labor in government, which might have a moderating influence on its outrageous demands, can not be foretold. But if labor groups do succeed in gaining a stronger position in Congress the responsibility involved may have a sobering effect.

We think the Republican party in the next four years will have atoned for its many sins. Among these sins may be numbered the Harding administration, the corruption of which the Coolidge administration finally cleared. Let us not forget that it was the Smoot-Hawley tariff that spread its poisonous miasma through the world trade channels, a Republican sin not only against this country and its people, but also against all nations. In short the Republican administration of Harding and Coolidge did for the industrialists, what the New Deal today is attempting to do for the labor unions, that is, create airtight monopolies, at the expense of all Americans.

The Roosevelt administration for political reasons has castigated business and glorified labor. Even if this originated in the highest humanitarian motives, the result has been unreasonable curtailment of individual enterprise in big and little business on the one hand, and on the other hand spawning of unscrupulous and racketeering labor leaders, who use all subversive elements in the country to further their purposes. They have sought, and in some instances obtained a labor monopoly.

In the long view extremes of this kind may be expected in the evolution of a great people. However, we doubt if ever in history there has been a people who have submitted so supinely not only to the vicious exactions of various monopolistic plunder-bunds among the wealthy, but to the blackmail of that vast net work of criminal rackets, often allied to union labor, as in the cast of Al Capone and Willie Bioff. We don't bracket with these Harry Bridges and his partner, Curran, Pacific and Atlantic bosses of the longshoremen, because we have come to the conclusion that these men are heads of the action groups of the communist "party line" and that their warfare is only incidentally against our industries. It is directed primarily against our form of government.

We need only believe a part of the Dies Committee clamorings and suspicions, and these after modification and purification by press dispatches, to conclude that communists are playing a major role in many of the strikes. We think the day is coming swiftly when the people will force Congress and the administration to crack down on criminal and communistic obstruction. With taxes already making profiteering in war munitions a practical impossibility we think the menace to our defense program is not from the industrialists, but originates in labor groups with criminal or communistic leadership. The distinction between the two can hardly be drawn in this crisis. Anyone who hampers our efforts for defense, is a traitor.

What the country needs is a "fair deal." Australia has ac-

Youth Brings Fame To Home Town

YOUNG TOBIASSEN WILL FIGHT FOR NATIONAL BOXING CHAMPIONSHIP

Elton (Bub) Tobiassen is in State College, Pa., to compete in the National Boxing Tournament to be held there tonight, tomorrow and Saturday night.

Tobiassen won the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate 145 pound championship in Sacramento last Saturday night and Sunday left to box in the national tourney.

With him when he goes into the ring tonight, Elton carries the best wishes of every resident of Nevada City.

The local boxer, student at the College of Agriculture at Davis, is considered the man to beat for the national title and Nevada Cityans are confident he will win the championship.

Just the fact he is competing in the national tourney will bring fine publicity to this city. If he wins the championship the honor will be that much greater.

Last year the local youth, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Carl J. Tobiassen, won the Pacific Coast title in the 145 pound classification but because he was only in his first collegiate year he could not compete in the national tournament.

Bub began his boxing career in this city several years ago when he fought at the Mine Workers Protective League picnic. A natural slugger, he continued his fistic triumphs in various matches in this city and took up boxing when he enrolled at the Davis college last year.

Under the direction of Crip Toomey some of the rough spots were ironed out and he now is a smooth functioning fistic warrior, with a tremendously powerful right hand as his principal asset.

"The kid's good" was the comment of the more than 100 Nevada City fans who made the trip to Sacramento last Friday and Saturday to see him fight.

The prowess of Young Tobiassen has been too little considered and the press is at fault for not giving the local youth more credit for his ability.

As far as fisticuffs are concerned, Tobiassen is tops. Wouldn't every one boast mightily if Nevada City had a football player rated All-American by all the experts? The situation is the same. Elton (Bub) Tobiassen deserves a big hand.

It would not be at all amiss if the Chamber of Commerce and local organizations joined in planning a welcoming celebration for Tobiassen on his return to his home here.

Goodwill Caravan Will Stop In Nevada City Over Night

I. L. Putnam of Yuba City and Harry Courson of Nice, directors of the Tahoe-Pacific Highway 20 Association, were in Nevada City Tuesday assisting in the arranging of local details for the goodwill caravan which will leave Fort Bragg Friday, April 4th, and traverse the Tahoe-Ukiah Route to Reno, stopping one night in Nevada City and one night in Reno.

After leaving Fort Bragg the caravan will be joined by additional cars as each city along the route is reached. A large number of cars are expected to be in the caravan by the time it reaches Nevada City.

H. F. Sofge, chairman of the local chamber of commerce and a secretary of the Tahoe-Pacific organization, has been placed in charge of arranging the plans for the entertaining of the group when they arrive in this city.

After the overnight stay in Nevada City, the caravan, augmented by automobiles from Grass Valley and here, will go to Truckee, where they will meet with businessmen and civic leaders to promote travel over the Tahoe-Ukiah route. From there the caravan will go to Lake Tahoe and then to Reno, where the night, Saturday, will be spent.

In Reno, the members of the caravan will publicize the scenic and recreational advantages of the area and towns along the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway.

The goodwill tour is expected to increase travel over the Tahoe-Ukiah route. Nevada City will benefit materially as this city is the first city on the eastern end of the highway.

Peace Officers Will Elect New Heads Tomorrow

New officers of the Sierra-Nevada Peace Officers Association will be elected at the meeting of the organization in the Golden Hotel in Grass Valley tomorrow night at 7 p. m.

A pistol shoot will be held at two o'clock tomorrow at the association's new range near the state fire camp.

Captain A. H. Willard of this city, incumbent president, will preside over the dinner meeting. H. F. Sofge of this city is secretary of the peace officers.

SECURES EMPLOYMENT

Miss Evelyn Stoller of Grass Valley and a 1940 graduate of Mount St. Mary's Business School, has been called to the office of the U. S. Engineers, U. S. Army, Sacramento. She passed the U. S. civil service examination given in Sacramento for stenographers. Miss Stoller left Grass Valley Sunday and took up her office duties in Sacramento Monday morning.

Local High School Girl Will Compete In Native Sons State Wide Speaking Contest

Miss Helen Yuen, local high school student, will leave for San Francisco tomorrow to compete in the speaking contest which is sponsored by the Grand Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Miss Yuen was the winner of the elimination conducted in the local high school by Hydraulic Parlor No. 56, N. S. G. W. As the neighboring schools did not enter the contest this year, she will represent Nevada County as well as Nevada City.

The elimination at San Francisco will determine the representative for the northern part of the state, to compete in the finals which will be held at the Grand Parlor of the N. S. G. W. at Lake Tahoe, in May. A similar elimination is being held in Los Angeles, to determine the representative of the southern part of the state.

Miss Yuen's subject will be "Patrick Breen of the Donner Party" an account of the struggles and hardships of the Breen family on their journey to California. Mr. Breen was the only member of the Donner Party to keep a diary, and it is considered by many to be the most authentic account of the Donner Party.

She will be accompanied by Miss Ivey Adele Ruiter, high school dramatics instructor, who has coached Miss Yuen in the preparation and delivery of her speech.

Scout Finance Group Will Meet Tomorrow

The finance committee of the Nevada City Boy Scout campaign will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock with John Fortier, general chairman, at the Bank of America.

At tomorrow's meeting it will be determined whether the drive reached the $1,000 goal set for the boy scout fund campaign.

Washington Miner Arrested On Complaint Of Omar Tonella

John Ronan, 42, Washington miner, was taken into custody last night by Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen on a petty theft complaint signed by O. F. Tonella, local taxi owner. Ronan is held in the county jail.

The petty theft charge against Ronan is assertedly the result of a $5 bad check given Tonella by the accused.

ARMY ISSUES CALL FOR DR. JOHN R. TOPIC

Dr. John R. Topic, who since his comparatively short residence here has become an important part of the civic life of the community has received a notification to report for army service in the medical division Saturday.

Dr. Topic's departure will be regretted by many in this city. However, the local physician and surgeon looks upon it as an opportunity to gain added experience and also to be of service to his country.

SKI COURSE ON BALD MOUNTAIN ATTRACT MANY

The popularity of the Bald Mountain Ski Course near Forest and Alleghany is spreading far and wide and scores from all parts of the state are doing their skiing there.

The Bald Mountain Course is considered one of the best in the state and snow sports enthusiasts from Alleghany yesterday announced skiing will be good for the next six weeks yet, even though no additional snow falls.

The course, eight miles in length, is remarkably free of trees and obstructions. At the present time a tractor operated by Sierra County transports the skiers from Plum Valley to the snowfields.

Fire Starts On Commercial Street From Burning Debris

Damage approximating several hundred dollars was done yesterday afternoon when a debris fire on Commercial Street spread to adjoining buildings and damaged the roofs and interior.

The local fire department quelled the blaze and prevented the flames from becoming a serious menace. Had a wind been blowing it is probable a critical situation would have existed.

The buildings damaged included the one owned by J. F. Colley, the carpenter shop of Steger and Sons and the vacant building owned by Mrs. Fred Breese.

A large crowd was attracted to the fire but the local police competently kept the people from interfering with the activities of the volunteer firemen.

Necessary To Convoy Ships If British Aid Effective, Editor Says

CHARLES LILLEY GIVES HIS VIEWS ON WAR SITUATION HERE TODAY TO LOCAL CLUB MEMBERS

"The United States will have to convoy its ships to the British Isles, if our aid is to be made effective," declared Charles J. Lilley, manager and editor of the Sacramento Union, in an address before the Rotary Club, whose luncheon guest he was today.

The British navy, he said, was so widely dispersed in the Mediterranean, along the Western Atlantic Coast and in the English Channel and North Sea, that its ability to protect shipments from the United States was seriously impaired.

The British, Mr. Lilley said, in his opinion have stirred up the trouble in the Balkans to force Hitler into huge policing jobs, to scatter his military forces and to take him "off the neck" of the people in the British Isles. The British have done a magnificent job since the retreat from Dunkirk. They have exhibited a courage and a resourcefulness, not equalled in all history.

But the retreat from Dunkirk was in no sense a victory for the British. On the contrary it was a tremendous triumph for Hitler. We know the Germans are methodical, scientific, and they plan each move with great care. Do not think it is an accident that the poor quarters of London have been blasted frequently by German bombs. It was done to break the morale of Great Britain's most numerous class. If they could be impelled to revolt, the occupation of the British Isles would be, as it had proved in France, a comparatively easy task.

"But in my opinion," said Mr. Lilley, "the Germans missed their chance right after the retreat from Dunkirk. England for the moment was knocked off her feet. There was tremendous disorganization there. Had the Germans been ready then with their blitzkreig, it would have had a good chance of success."

The editor said that up until the lease-lend bill was passed he had opposed it, for the reason that he believed, and still believes it will lead us to all out war.

But now that the bill has passed he believes that every citizen should get behind the aid to Britain and make it succeed. For if we fail and Britain fails we undoubtedly will have to spend far more money than we propose to spend to fight Hitler on the European continent, and to do it alone.

Regarding the future, Mr. Lilley said, some people take a very pessimistic view. He was playing golf with a Sacramento man and during the talk across the course, this man said he was buying a little place up in the mountains above Nevada City. Why? Well it developed that quite a number of Sacramento men were buying mountain farms as a kind of retreat if worst comes to worst as an aftermath of the war. They had a hunch that when the war was done the United States might be in very bad condition. They envisioned mobs, not very well organized moving up and down the Sacramento Valley, very hungry mobs, with no respect for any property rights whatever, and these men thought it might be a good thing to get up in the mountains somewhere, where the mobs would find difficulty reaching them. They proposed to grow a few vegetables, fruits and weather through until more settled conditions obtained.

So far as the national debt is concerned, Mr. Lilley said there was never another debt in all history like it and that no such debt had ever been paid. The debt limit it is now set at 65 billion dollars, and this will probably be raised to 100 billion before we are through with this war. He believed it would never be paid, but would be repudiated directly or by means of inflation.

Someone asked the speaker regarding war aims, whether these should not now be declared. He stated he did not think they should. But he did believe that, since the British refused our principal peace proposals in the last war, if we got into this war, not only supplying munitions but fighting, we should settle this war our way, and not the British way.

The editor regarded it as almost certain we would be fighting sooner or later.

He recalled in the last war we tried to stay out, but events forced us in. He believed the same thing will happen again. And if we do go in, then we should have our chance to establish the peace.

Long Illness Claims Miss Emily Uren

Funeral services for Miss Emily Uren, 82, sister of City Engineer Ed C. Uren, will be held at the Holmes Funeral Home here at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Burial will be in the Odd Fellows Cemetery in Grass Valley.

Miss Uren, who was born in Dutch Flat February 13, 1859 of pioneer parents, died yesterday in Berkeley. For years she resided at the home of her brother here and was widely acquainted in this city.

Miss Uren's death followed a long illness.

The deceased leaves two brothers, Ed C. Uren of this city and Charles E. Uren of Berkeley; a nephew, Professor Lester C. Uren of the University of California and a grand nephew, Donald E. Uren, who is connected with the General Electric Company in New York City.

Grammer School To Resume Here Next Monday

An absence of 148 pupils at the Nevada City Elementary School Tuesday resulted in the suspension of school until next Monday.

The students were asked by school officials to stay at home and not associate with other children. The suspension of school was caused by the prevalence of measles and other children diseases.

The high school was not materially effected by absences and classes are continuing at that institution.

NEV. CITY MAN'S BROTHER IS U. S. MEDIATOR

William H. Davis of New York, brother of H. P. Davis, engineer of this city, is one of the eleven members of National Labor Mediation board named by the President this week. William H. Davis is a member of the legal firm of Pennie, Davis, Marvin and Edmonds, the largest firm of patent attorneys in the world. He has been for some years a member of the New York Labor Mediation Board. He is one of the three members on the national board representing the public.

Several Have Applied For Welfare Position

County Clerk R. N. McCormack, who is also clerk of the board of supervisors, announced several have submitted their applications for the county welfare position, left vacant by the resignation of E. B. Dudley.

The appointment of Dudley's successor will be done at the April 1st meeting of the board of supervisors. Applications must be submitted by 10 a. m. April 1st.

Faith Over Paris

A strange story, piercing the veil of mystery that has hung over Paris since the German occupation, has come to America by way of Switzerland. It seems that on Armistice Day disorders far more serious than anything admitted by the Nazi censorship broke out in the French capital. The trouble began, the delayed report states, when a large throng sought to march down the historic Champs Elysees. German soldiers were controlling and breaking up the march when two far distant dots appeared in the heavens. The dots became airplanes —warplanes, and as they zoomed down toward the city, they were recognized as ships of the Royal Air Force.

Suddenly streams of black smoke spun from the English planes; then, while Germans and French alike stared upward, the RAF pilots swiftly wrote two words in the sky—then departed toward England. The words, mile high and city wide, black against the bue sky of France, were.

"Courage"—"Confidence."

And then, defiant of conquerors. the Frenchmen of Paris took charge of the streets where marched the haughty empire builders of Louis XIV, the awesome legions of Bonaparte. Frenchmen defied Nazi guards in marching from the Arc de Triomphe to the Place de la Concorde. in shouting "Vive de Gaulle," "Vive Churchill," "Vive Roosevelt," and as the machine guns of the exasperated Nazis began to rattle and the wounded scream, a fanatic and almost terrible "Vive la France!"

The hour of frenzy passed, with the smoke of the sky-written words. The Nazis restored order. But it was a sad day for the Nazi program of destruction of the spirit of democratic France. Two words may have offset many months of shrewd Nazi propaganda designed to shatter French morale and break French courage. Perhaps more important to the outcome of this war than the bombs a thousand planes might carry is the inspiration of two words of faith written for millions of the Frenchmen by two weaponless planes in the sky over Paris.

No Bombs For Rome

Tons of bombs have blasted into shambles some of the most modern, thickly-populated cities of Europe, during recent months. Huge hotels, office buildings, stores, cathedrals, hospitals and factories have been blown into twisted wreckage, with thousands of dead buried beneath the debris. Rich and poor, middle-class and tenement dwellers have all been targets for death and destruction rained down from the skies. But thns far, Rome and Athens, with their priceless relics of ancient civilizations, have been spared.

There is nothing certain, of course, in this mad inferno which has cast a deadly pall over most of Europe. Athens whose ancient greatness has leavened the whole course of civilization, and Rome, treasure house of historians, may vet go up in flames, as air raid sirens shrill their warnings and bombers roar overhead, dumping their cargoes of devastation. But somehow, we doubt it. The British are said to have warned the Axis that any bombing of Athens will bring a retaliatory bombing of Rome. And Italian pilots probably revere their long-dead Caesars much more than their badly-discredited Mussolini. A Nazi pilot, to be sure, might not be so squeamish, but Hitler cannot afford to risk the complete collapse of his Italian ally. And if Rome were destroyed, the Roman heart would almost stop beating.—Contributed.

We Must Work

President Roosevelt has made it plain to the American people that this nation, as the arsenal of democracy, must hit a stride in production which will not permit of failure. If we fail now, the blood of millions of American boys will pay for our failure. That. in effect, is the President's warning. One way or another, Hitler must be stopped!

If we work with a will; if we put our shoulders to the wheel and work with real American unity; if we work gladly and unselfishly, knowing joy and a new spirit of comradship in the work; if we work patriotically, for the country we love, and for those who are now battling the mad-man of Europe—then, perhaps, we shall not need to fight! Then, probably, our boys shall not have to die on foreign battlefields!

We must work, or we must fight. That is the substance of it. In Britain and Greece, in China and Libya, in Africa and Ethiopia, men are dying in agony; wounded men with legs shot away, with arms shattered, blinded by gunfire, are paying the full price for liberty. We have our alternative, if we grasp it now. We can WORK! Let's get at it!—Contributed.

We Americans established this nation primarily in order to avoid excessive taxation, and now look at us!

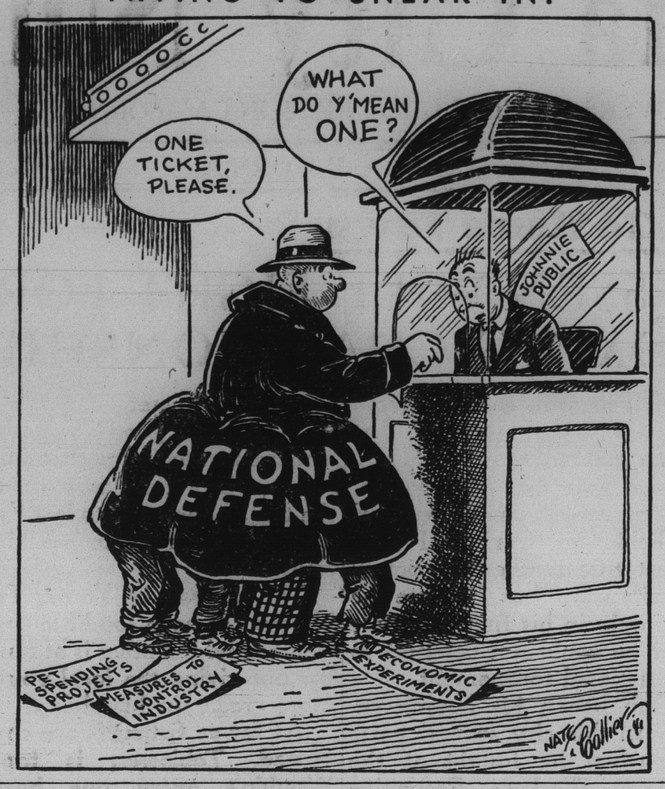
TRYING TO SNEAK IN!



An Unsung Army

Scattered throughout the country are 8,000 men and women who perform a valuable service and do it with little or no thought of reward.

They are the volunteer weather observers who are stationed in small towns, or on farms, in forest fastnesses and in desert country. They are equipped with a few simple instruments in which the rain gauge is predominant. From them is obtained part of the data which keep the rest of the country informed on that all important topic, the weather.

Few of them are paid and yet all of them must have a devotion to the job which many think can come only through the power of the pay check. A day cannot be skipped if they want to go hunting or fishing or attend to their private affairs. They must provide a substitute or stay on the job.

Why the 8,000 stick to the task is a question. Probably it is because they realize its importance to their fellow men and to the country as a whole. No other conclusion seems to account for the splendid service they give.

They deserve a cheer—this unsung army of volunteers whose faithful work is reflected every time a weather map is scanned —Sacramento Bee.

In Nevada City the volunteer weather observer is Mrs. Jennie Preston. Within the past year or so she has had the additional burden of supplying weather information for the forest service. It is fitting the volunteer weather observers should receive some of the acclaim they so justly deserve and we take this means of identifying Nevada City's observer.

They Talked, Too

A 67-year-old Vermont clergyman, Rev. Philetus H. McDowell, permitted his congregation to "talk back" one Sunday in what he called a church forum. The town meeting went to church and argued out the topic as to why Abraham Lincoln chose to live his life outside the church.

Started as an experiment. the innovation in Sunday sermons packed the church and brought out a record congregation. It was renewed the following Sunday with the town meeting talking about "The Religious Patchwork According to the Crazy Protestant Pattern," or "Why Don't We Get Together?"

In staid Vermont a pastor makes a spectacular move such as this with much foreboding. How would his conservative parishoners react? They enjoyed the chance to have their say and extended the services 25 minutes longer than the accustomed time.

In their search for inducements to bring people to church other pastors may find this experiment productive of results. People become tired of sitting and listening to one man doing all the talking. They either fall asleep or become restless. When they are allowed to question the speaker their interest is aroused and they become so excited about the subject that the church service becomes a pleasure rather than a boresome duty.

The church has so much competition in America, where so much is going on that anything which will bring out the people is worth attempting. It doesn't detract from religion but brings an appreciation of the more worthwhile things in life.

Sabotage On The Rails

When a speeding Pennsylvania railroad passenger train plunged into the Ohio River last week, four persons were killed and more than 100 injured. Only modern, steel equipment prevented great loss of life and a tragedy of horrible proportions. That wreck, it has now been established, was caused by saboteurs, who had removed all the spikes from one rail.

In Sacramento, three saboteurs, who sought unsuccessfully to derail and wreck a Southern Pacific train, have just been sentenced to long terms in federal prison. A few months ago, other saboteurs as yet uncaptured, deliberately derailed and wrecked one of the Southern Pacific's crack streamliners in California, with a tragic death toll.

In light of such circumstances, it is almost unbelievable that bills should be submitted to the California legislature to cripple and render impotent the railroad policing system which has been carefully built up and rigorously maintained to ferret out wreckers and saboteurs and jerk them into criminal court. where they belong. But several such measures known as "anti-spotter" bills. have been introduced and are now pending. If enacted. they would endanger the safety of millions of railway passengers and thousands of railway employes.

The question before the legislature is simply one of protecting us from the enemies within out gates. The question is one of public safety. And if this nation is to carry through its essential program of national defense, there is only one place for saboteurs. That place is in jail.—Contributed.

Just Wonderin'

I wonder at Stalin, the silent—
With his manners supremely reserved,
He sits on his throne in the Kremlin
And keeps his thoughts strictly conserved;
Perhaps he'll lash out in the future
And speak by the Red Star's grim light,
But right now I'm asking this question,
"Will he yield to Herr Hitler, or fight?"

I wonder just how to classify the Russian Bear. I once visualized him as a ferocious creature who walked upright like a man, later I saw him as a bewhiskered spider, waiting for the exhausted flies of Europe to fall into his web; now, I'm thinking of him as a greatly over rated monster, whose silence and inactivity are induced by a very real fear of dear friend, Hitler. At the present moment, there is nothing for communists anywhere to boast of—the few who live on this side of the ocean, should settle down and become good Americans.

I wonder if Mussolini actually believed that his august presence in Albania. would stem the tide of Italian reverses. An amusing figure he presented, big chin, high heeled boots and all, striding out to the front, to exhort and threaten his discomfited warriors and then turn tail and scram back to his own side of "mare nostrum." Oh well, he is not the first Caesar to suffer deflation during the Ides of March.

Friends, Americans, countrymen. lend me your ears. Hitler says that our President is a falsifier. and Hitler is an honorable man. Hitler's word is as good as his bond—every whit as good—his signature affixed to a contract, signifies that he will or will not abide by its terms; his utterances are as pure and pellucid as the waters of the Danube after a spring thaw; his life is an open book with Michaveillian content; and were it to be suddenly closed, a lurid glare would fade from the skies and humanity would emit a sigh of relief.

I wonder if the familiar slogan should be revised to read, "Now is the time for all good men, and women to come to the aid of their country." The women of America fought valiantly to achieve political and economic equality with their brothers—in these days of national emergency. that equality must be made more vitally constructive than at any former time.

In beleaguered lands beyond the sea. women are contributing to the cause of national defense by assuming many of the hard and unpleasant duties usually performed by men. We hope this will not become necessary here; but while our country is in a state of emergency. dedicated to the defense of liberty, justice and humanity. and devoted to the tasks of preserving our shores from invasion and our way of life from destruction. Uncle Sam is asking his children. men and women alike. "what service are you prepared to render in this time of world stress and disorder?" The answer must be given by each individual in the realization that, some part of the stupendous plan may be delayed, perhaps never quite completed if a single one of us is content to stand idle or impede progress by crooked thinking and ill advised speech.

Uncle Silas says: "My powers of deduction are growing fast; this morning when the dog came home with his face clawed. one eye closed and his left ear slashed, I deducted that he had been trying to appease the neighbor's cat."

STRIKE ISSUE UP TO LEGISLATURE

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

If California farmers suddenly signed an air-tight agreement to boycott every retail merchant who handled union made goods—not because they had any quarrel with retail merchants, but simply because they were involved in a dispute with some of the labor unions—the resultant furor would make Page 1 headlines all over the nation.

Labor leaders would bitterly denounce the farmers as "fascists."

Merchants, caught in the middle of the cross-fire, would protest that they were threatened with ruin by reason of a quarrel in which they had taken no part or had no interest.

And the Labor Department in Washington would probably condemn the boycott as illegal and un-American.

California farmers of course have not boycotted stores which handle union-made goods, nor are they likely to do so.

On the other hand, labor unions have repeatedly resorted to the "secondary boycott" against California farmers and the term "hot cargo" has become commonplace in news headlines.

The question of outlawing the vicious "secondary boycott" and the "hot cargo" provisions is now pending before the state legislature and it will be interesting to see just how the lawmakers face the issue. If the situation were reversed, and farmers were employing the "secondary boycott" in an attempt to break labor unionism, there would be little doubt of the outcome. There would be such a hue and cry against the practice that the vote would be virtually unanimous.

And farmers will watch with interest to learn whether their rights will be championed with equal vigilance.

There are two bills to outlaw the "secondary boycott", which farmers should note and keep tab on. They are Senate Bill 877, by Senator Gordon and two others, and Assembly Bill 1666, by Assemblyman Millington and Phillips.

The two bills declare use of the "secondary boycott" and "hot cargo" weapons unlawful.

"Hot cargo" is defined to include any combination or agreement resulting in a refusal by employes to handle goods or perform services for their employer, because of a dispute between some other employer and his employe or a labor organization.

"Secondary boycott" is defined to include any combination or agreement, (1) to cease performing services for any employer, or (2) to cause any employe to cease performing such services, or (3) to cause any loss or injury to such employer, or (4) to cause any loss or injury to his employe for the purpose of inducing or compelling the employer to refrain (1) from doing business with another employer or (2) from handling the products of such other employer, because of a dispute between the latter employer and his employes or a labor organization.

Under the bills now pending, combinations or agreements to induce violation of the statute or to injure anyone refusing to violate the statute are also outlawed.

If these bills are not enacted, any California farmer, at any time, may be threatened with the loss of his entire crop, and his whole year's income, if he doesn't knuckle under to some city labor boss who has the power to declare his crop "hot cargo." For under the existing law, and recent court interpretations, labor can picket and boycott any farm, anywhere, anytime, for any reason, or for no reason at all. That intolerable condition puts the farmer, who feeds and clothes the nation, at the mercy of every labor racketeer in the country. It gives labor unions the power to bludgeon and bleed the farming industry.

Every farmer who values his right to stay in business, and who believes he is just as entitled to his right to earn a living as the worker who belongs to a union, should get in touch with his legislators and advise them of his attitude. And when the vote is finally taken he should keep a record of how his local lawmakers voted—for future reference.

There is no doubt, in this writer's opinion, of how the people of California would vote on this question if it were presented to them, for the voters, in most instances, are quick to crack down on unfairness and discrimination. The "secondary boycott" if the issue is submitted to the people, will be outlawed. But there should be no need to take the question to the people. The legislature should prove to the farming people of California that it is just as quick to protect their rights, and their interests, as those of labor, or any other branch of the community.

At one of the recent legislative committee hearings in Sacramento on these bills, labor leaders arrogantly served notice on the legislature that if the "secondary boycott" is outlawed they will still continue to use it. They bluntly stated that they will ignore any ban the legislature may place on this outrageous practice. When any group in a democracy considers itself above the law—and openly declares its intention to flout the law—then, certainly, the time has come to act. The legislature should call that bluff. When the legislature has outlawed the "secondary boycott", it will then be time for our courts to demonstrate equal courage —and enforce the ban to the limit!

An Honorary ROTC Major

MISS MARY JANE McSORLEY

* * * *

John Cooper Leaves Estate To His Sister

The will of the late John M. Cooper has been filed for probate in the superior court here with a sister, Alice Cooper, seeking letters of administration.

Cooper's will, written in his own hand, leaves his entire estate, valued at $1600 to his sister, Alice.

"I do not make provision herein for my sister, Mary Isabelle Randall," the will reads, "as I know my sister Alice will give her every care and attention."

The will was dated November 18, 1935.

UNIVERSITY OF NEVADA HONORS CALIF. COED

A girl from the Mother Lode of California, Miss Mary Jane McSorley of Mokelumne Hill, has been chosen honorary major of the University of Nevada Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Miss McSorley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. McSorley of Mokelumne Hill, a junior student at the college in Reno, and is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. She is active in student affairs, serving on many of the important student committees on the Nevada campus.

The new major was elected to the coveted position at the University of Nevada from a group of eight candidates by members of Scabbard and Blade campus military honor society composed of ROTC student officers.

She will be assisted in her duties by a corps of four honorary captains, one coed having been elected by each of the three companies and the band of the Nevada ROTC battalion.

Duties of Miss McSorley as "honorary commander" of 300 students include appearing with the battalion at all official reviews and presiding at all formal balls and other social functions sponsored by the ROTC and Scabbard and Blade.

THE RECORD•••• Facts That Concern You No. 25 of a Series

EVERY SCHOOL AND EVERY BUSINESS HAS ONE OR TWO

In a school full of bright, self-respecting students, there are very likely to be one or two completely lacking in good common sense. And that goes for business, too... particularly the beer retailing business.

Out of thousands of beer retailers who conduct respectable, law-abiding businesses, there may be a few "dunce" retailers who disobey the law or permit anti-social conditions.

These few unwanted retailers are a menace to the future of the beer industry...and also of the benefits beer has made possible. Right here in California, beer provides employment for 102,698 persons, supports an annual payroll of $90,386,601 and contributed $2,186,489.99 last year in state taxes.

It is the brewers' responsibility to make good beer—the retailers' responsibility to sell beer in wholesome surroundings—and the legally constituted authorities' responsibility to enforce the laws. All of these, working together with the public, are needed to protect the future of beer.

You, too, can help the cause of moderation by (1) patronizing only reputable places where beer is sold; (2) and reporting any violation you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

PEPPER MARTIN WILL MANAGE SACTO. TEAM

SACRAMENTO, March 27.—Outstanding speed, a brilliant offense and a strong defense generously sprinkled with pepper is the highly seasoned dish being served up to Sacramento baseball fans for the 1941 season under the managership of the famous "Wild Horse of the Osage," Pepper Martin.

Evidently the fans throughout the Sacramento Valley and the Pacific Coast are finding the dish palatable as there is more interest being shown in the Solons' opening game scheduled for Saturday afternoon, April 5, with the Hollywood Stars than at any time since 1928.

Many new faces of established major and AA ball players of proven ability have already stamped Martin's local edition of the "Gas House Gang" of which he was the spark in St. Louis as a definite pennant contender. Jack Sturdy at first base has turned in creditable seasons for the past six years in AA leagues and sports a batting average of over .300 for that period to prove his worth.

At third base Martin's efforts brought Don Gutteridge from the St. Louis Cardinals. Gutteridge is being hailed as potentially the outstanding player of the League this year. Extremely fast, he was the fastest man in the National League two years ago, a spectacular fielder and a good consistent power hitter. Gutteridge is considered the most valuable addition to the club with the exception of Pepper Martin himself.

In the outfield, an old favorite because of his power, speed and great fielding has been secured for left field duty, Buster Adams. Ill for two years Buster has completely recovered and his oustanding play in the spring training fulfills the need of last season by furnishing a slugger at the plate who can hit for distance.

It seems that the horse is here to stay, in spite of all this mechanization talk, especially in the cavalry. Shed a tear for the sad case of the recruit who was marching behind his horse, when the sergeant bawled at him: "How often have I told you not to walk too near his hooves? One of these days you'll be kicked in the head and I'll have a lame horse on my hands."

MEMORIES AND A PRAYER

Aeons ago in peaceful, smiling fields,
Bloomed poppies, white as drifted snow;
They blushed beneath the rosy light of dawn
And caught the golden sheen of sunset's glow;
But when the moon her silvery radiance shed,
Serene they stood within her magic light,
Like fairy sails, their silken petals furled,
Pure snow white poppies, dreaming through the night.

Time winged his flight and often through the land,
Ran the mad fires of human wrath and hate
And many were the warm libations poured,
The red god's burning thirst to satiate;
And then one springtime when the poppies came
To weave their fragile tapestries anew,
Upon each trembling petal lay
A drop of blood red dew.
Long centuries passed but there was no surcease,
Distrust remained, engendering strife,
The night skies glowed with evil, wanton fires—
Tumult on earth was rife.
And now the poppies were no longer white,
Their petals told the price of fame,
Above the heroes slumbering at their feet,
They gently spread a pall of crimson flame.

But in the moonlight when the winds are still,
Remembering peaceful hours of lost delight,
The poppies dream of summers yet to be
And long to wear again their robes of white;
A mystic presence lingers near,
To whom the blood red poppies pray,
"Send Lord, the thuosand years of peace
And wash these crimson stains away."

PRESENT NORTH EAST WINDS ARE FORERUNNER OF EARLY FIRE YEAR

Assistant Forest Supervisor E. L. Baxter, of the Tahoe National Forest in charge of fire control, cautioned today that the present north east winds are the forerunner of an early fire season. "These winds" states Baxter, "cause the forest fuel and other material around ranches and in the footholl area to rapidly dry out." These dry materials add to the danger of clean up and fire hazard reduction work in that the fire may "get away" and spread over a considerable area.

Baxter urges that exereme care be taken to prevent any fire from getting out of control. In cases where the fire does get away and outside help is needed, the request for help should be phoned to State Ranger Wm. Sharp, in Nevada City, for Nevada County, or to State Ranger Alva Frost in Auburn for Placer County. Uncontrollable fires within the boundaries of the Tahoe National Forest should be reported to any of the forest rangers or to the forest supervisor of the Tahoe National Forest in Nevada City.

Baxter asks that no request for aid be made to the CCC camps but to the state rangers or national forest rangers instead. Better control of the use of available fire fighting equipment and man power can be made through rangers, under existing fire plans.

"Existing fire plans" says Baxter, "are well worked out by each agency to get the needed help to any place in the foothill or mountain area in the shortest possible time. Description of these plans lessen the effectiveness of fire suppression."

Reforestation At Forest Hill Starts

Spring reforestation planting on the old Forest Hill burn, near Forest Hill, California, has recently started, according to B. C. Goldsmith, logging engineer of the Tahoe Forest. Ten thousand trees will be planted in this area by CCC enrollees of Camp Forest Hill under the foremanship of James Wheeler and the technical supervision of Charles C. Bearlsley, district ranger of the Forest Hill district, Survival of trees planted the last several years has been remarkably high, proving the feasibility of the reforestation of this badly scarred and burned over area.

A woman arriving in this country after a short visit to the Continent was asked the usual questions at the Customs: "Anything to declare, madam?"

"No," she replied sweetly, "nothing."

"Then, madam," said the official, "am I to take it that the fur tail I see hanging down under your coat is your own?"

"So, he's divorcing her! And before they were married I heard her say she would go through everything with him."

"She did—everything he had."

Spends Day At Capital—

Superior Judge George L. Jones spent Tuesday in Sacramento on business pertaining to a proposed bill in the legislature.

OFFICE SWITCH AT COURT HOUSE NEARLY READY

The switch in county offices, resulting from the decision by the county board of supervisors to enlarge the headquarters of the welfare department, is nearing completion.

Justice of the Peace George Gildersleeve's court has been moved from the second floor to the general meeting room on the third floor. The Selective Service Board headquarters was moved to the office formerly occupied by the janitor on the second floor.

The large room formerly occupied on the second floor by Judge Gildersleeve will be remodeled into new offices space for the welfare department.

With the increasing popularity in cities of frozen foods, new refrigerator locker plants are being established in California stores at the rate of fifty a month.

complished just that. We believe that we in the United States with our abundant natural resources and inventive genius can do as well as Australia. There labor organizations themselves purged the radical elements and assumed responsibility in government policies. And, we confess, we would much rather intelligent and patriotic labor leadership in this country would do its own house cleaning than to force the job on a reluctant Congress and President. What we need is a "fair deal", and we believe that if the Republican party can heal its schisms, quit its wrangling over a foreign policy that nine tenths of the people heartily approve, and offer the country a "fair deal" program, we would reach that goal in the course of the next four years.

YOLANDA AND VELOZ TO DANCE IN SACRAMENTO

On a record breaking tour that has taken them to leading ballrooms and theatres of the country, Veloz and Yolanda, the famous ball room dancing team, will be seen in Sacramento's Memorial Auditorium April 1st. The celebrated pair whose stage and motion picture appearances have made them familiar to the entire world will present a program showing the history of the waltz, a variety of novelty dances, and their famous tangoes and rumbas.

Married happily for 12 years, their story is interesting. They met when Frank Veloz was a bank clerk from Washington, D. C., trying to make a living in New York. Yolanda was a twinkle toed bright eyed Italian girl from Mulberry Street, known as Yolanda Casazza. Their first conquest was a $3 prize in a contest held in a small dance hall. Later they obtained a job dancing in a Chinese restaurant, where they played with no orchestrations or prepared routines—he in a rented dinner jacket, anl she in a slightly used evening gown.

Their real break came at the St. Regis Hotel in New York, which gave them the push that skyrocketed them to fame and fortune. Since then they have appeared at the Waldorf Astoria's Sert Room, Chicago's Palmer House, the Central Park Casino, London's Mayfair and in every other fashionable spot both here and on the continent.

Veloz and Yolanda will appear under Ware-Hazelton management. Tickets are on sale now at their box office in Weinstock-Lubin's.

Will Start Vacation—

Walter Cherry, manager of the Purity Store here, and Mrs. Cherry will leave tomorrow for a vacation which will carry them to many points of interest in the state, visiting relatives enroute.

WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN THURMAN AT THE STATE CAPITOL

The budget is expected to reach the floor of the assembly by the end of this week. Your assemblyman with other members of the ways and means committee worked all day Sunday as well as Monday and Tuesday nights in the checking over the budget and making cuts which may total as much as twenty millions of dollars. With the bill before the lower house for consideration, its passage without much delay should result. Two years ago it required many days of debate and argument before the budget was passed in the lower house.

Upon the passage of the budget by the assembly, it will then go to the senate where it will be considered by the finance committee of the upper house and it is even possible that more cuts may be made by the senate committee before it is approved by that committee and sent to the floor of the senate.

With the budget out of the way, both houses will get down to the consideration of all bills on their respective calendars, including numerous apropriation bills which cannot be taken up for consideration until the budget is approved.

Last week both houses passed numerous measures, some of a controversial nature but in the main, bills which were non-controversial.

A bill has been introduced in the lower house which if it becomes a law will cut in half the allocations now received for premiums by the various district and county fairs. The bill would reduce the 40 per cent of the pari-mutuel funds now set aside for distribution to the district and county fairs to 20 per cent. Such a measure would without question cripple the numerous small district and county fairs. Whether such legislation will be successful in passage of course is a question. At any rate your rural legislators will oppose the proposed cut. Under the proposed bill the total amount which would be cut from district fairs would be in the neighborhood of a million dollars. This money taken from the small fairs would go toward the support of the department of agriculture.

Attempts were made during the 1939 session to divert district fair funds into other channels and this session the adherents of such legislation are gaining in strength. Your rural legislators are going to have to fight harder than ever this session to protect the small county fairs. The proponents of the cut in fair premium allocations have an argument and the fight may have to be carried to the floor in both houses.

Measures of state wide importance which were approved last week included the passage in the senate of the emergency anti-sabotage bill of which Senator Slater is the author. Your assemblyman is co-author of a similar bill in the assembly.

In the lower house a two million dollar emergency relief appropriation bill to finance relief for April, May and June was passed. Attempts by the administration to double the amount were defeated by a vote of 51 to 19 which shows that the so-called economy bloc has gained in strength since the 1939 session.

Many Academy Students Receive Certificates For Passing Shorthand Tests

During the past week, five minute shorthand tests sent out by the Gregg Credential Department, New York, were given in Mt. St. Mary's Business School. These tests were given at speeds of 60, 80 and 100 words a minute.

Those who will receive their certificates for passing the tests are:

60 Word Test—Florence Ashburn, Shirley May Hooper, Marjorie Clarke, Catherine McConnell, Margaret Crawford, Jack Peterson, Shirley Davis, Jean Smith, Bernice Ford, Catherine Tognarelli, Margaret Gamble and Betty Welch.

Eighth Anniversary Of CCC Will Be Commemorated With Celebrations At Various Camps

The Civilian Conservation Corps next week completes its eighth year as an instrumentality of the United States Government for the conservation of youth and the natural resources of the nation.

In conformity with the custom established in the past the eighth anniversary of the founding of the corps will be commemorated during the coming week, March 29th to April 5th.

The Grass Valley Camp and the Forest Hill Camp in the Tahoe National Forest will hold "open house" at the camps on Sunday, April 6th.

The public is being invited to attend the "open house" and arrangements are being made to present an entertainment as well as eductional program demonstrating the activities of the CCC. In addition a free barbecue will be held for the camp visitors.

The forest service is cooperating with the War Department in planning for the eighth anniversary celebration at CCC camps.

"During the present national emergency wherein industry, all agencies of the government and also individual citizens are imbued with the furtherance of the national defense program," the Tahoe Forest here announces, "it is believed that those activities of the corps affording training to enrollees in citizenship, physical fitness and vocational guidance contributing to the national defense program will prove of greatest interest to the public.

"Accordingly, emphasis will be placed on the fact that the entire pattern of camp life, the daily routine, the training received on work projects and the educational programs all contribute to national security through the development in the individual enrollees of character, discipline, healthful bodies, good work habits, love of country and the ability to achieve economic independence."

Events planned at the Forest Hill camp, which is composed principally of enrollees from all parts of Northern California, include a road building demonstration. Special invitations have been issued to parents and friends of the CCC youths to attend the "open house" celebration at Forest Hill.

Following the program and barbecue at the Grass Valley camp, a community dance wil be held. Tahoe Forest Service personnel and many from Nevada City will attend the Grass Valley camp "open house" celebration.

Civilian Conservation Corps Week Proclaimed By Governor Olson

April 5, marks another milestone in the fascinating history of the Civilian Conservation Corps and "open house" will prevail in all camps.

Approximately 125,000 young Californians at one time or another have been members of the corps since its inception in 1933. Financially strapped California families have received around $25,000,000 in allotment checks during this period of time and about $49,000,000 more has been expended on the enrollees in the way of cash allowances, food, clothing, housing, etc.

The benefit of the CCC program to the state of California is tremendous. Thousands of miles of firebreaks have been built, as have forestry roads; camping and vacationing areas improved; forest fires suppressed to less than half of normal; and most important of all, untrained, unskilled young men have been taught specific jobs and how to work! they have been built up physically and taught to be good citizens, and they have returned to their home communities far better able to take their rightful places in their home communities.

Governor Culbert Olson, in proclaiming March 29 to April 5 as Civilian Conservation Corps Week stated, "This year, due to national defense activities in which CCC is participating, it is important that the service clubs, American Legion Posts, other civic organizations and the people of California generally visit as many of the CCC camps as possible throughout the state of California and familiarize themselves with the splendid work being done by these youthful American citizens."

April 1 also marks the opening of the new regular enrollment period, and young men 17 to 23 years of age, citizens, of sound body and mind, desirous of taking advantage of the training offered in mechanics, shop, radio, and dozens of other worthwhile courses should see their local CCC Selecting Agent at once. In Nevada county, the CCC agent is A. W. McGaggin whose office is located at Courthouse in Nevada City.

GEMS OF THOUGHT

The best thing to give to your enemy is forgiveness; to an opponent, tolerance; to a friend, your heart; to your child, a good example; to a father, deference; to your mother, conduct that will make her proud of you; to yourself, respect; to all men, charity. —Balfour

What is called liberality is often merely the vanity of giving.
—La Rochefoucauld

Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadows of turning. —James 1:17

Certain occasions, considered either collectively or individually and observed properly, tend to give the activity of man infinite scope; but mere merry-making or needless gift-giving is not that in which human capacities find the most appropriate and proper exercise.
—Mary Baker Eddy

It is the will, and not the gift that makes the giver. —Lessing

The heart of the giver makes the gift dear and precious.
—Martin Luther

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The Christian Science Society of Nevada City holds services at 114 Bouder Street every Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday school is held at 9:45 a. m. A testimonial meeting is held the first Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m.

"Reality" will be the subject of the lesson sermon Sunday.

The Golden Text will be: "The Lord hath brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Zion the work of the Lord our God" (Jeremiah 51:1.) Other Bible citations will include: "And they come unto him, bringing one sick of the palsy, which was borne of four. When Jesus saw their faith, he said unto the sick of the palsy, Son, thy sins be forgiven thee. And immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went forth before them all; inasmuch that they were all amazed, and glorified God, saying, We never saw it on this fashion." (Mark 2: 3, 5, 12.)

The Lesson-Sermon will also include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Is the sick man sinful above all others? No! but so far as he is discordant, he is not the image of God. Weary of their material beliefs, from which comes so much suffering, invalids grow more spiritual, as the error—or belief that life is in matter—yields the reality of spiritual Life" (p.318).

'COME LIVE WITH ME' AT NEVADA THEATRE SUNDAY

Presenting a new romantic team which is scheduled to be one of the most popular in screen history, "Come Live With Me" co-starring James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, under the direction of Clarence Brown, opens Sunday and Monday at the Nevada Theatre.

Based on a story tailor made for the pair, the plot deals with a beautiful Austrian refugee who is given the alternative of marrying an American citizen and thus obtaining a quota number, or being deported to her native Austria. Preferring the former she proposes marriage to Stewart, a penniless young author. Through a purely business arrangement, the marriage is to give Miss Lamarr her number and, in return, Stewart is to have his living expenses paid until he can sell one of his novels. The complications of this strange deal, made more puzzling when the two actually fall in love, supplies the screen with one of its amusing stories.

Down From Camptonville—
